Independent Auditor's Report

To the Members of
Canadian Foundation for Spiritual Care

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Canadian Foundation for Spiritual Care, which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2015, and the statements of operations and changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the foundation's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the foundation's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

Canadian Foundation for Spiritual Care derives a material amount of revenue from donations and fundraising activities. We were not able to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence about the completeness of the reported amounts for accounts receivable, donation and fundraising revenue, revenue in excess of expenditure and changes to net assets because there is no direct relationship between assets or services given up in exchange for amounts received or receivable. Consequently, we were unable to determine whether any adjustments to these amounts were necessary.

Qualified Opinion

Except as noted in the above paragraph, in our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the foundation as at December 31, 2015 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

1. Nature of operations

Canadian Foundation for Spiritual Care was created for the purpose of promoting the advancement of pastoral practice and education in Canada by fostering research, and enhancing training and service possibilities. The foundation was incorporated on January 1, 2003 as a charitable foundation and is exempt from tax under the provision of the Income Tax Act.

2. Significant accounting policies

The financial statements have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations. The precise determination of many assets and liabilities is dependent on future events. As a result, the preparation of financial statements for a period involves the use of estimates and approximations which have been made using careful judgment. Actual results could differ from those estimates and approximations. The financial statements have, in management's opinion, been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies summarized as follows.

(a) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash consists of bank accounts held with financial institutions.

(b) Revenue recognition

The foundation follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured. Endowment contributions are recognized as direct increases in net assets.

Interest and dividend income on investments is recognized as earned. Realized gains or losses on investments are recognized when the individual investments are sold. Any increases or decreases in market value of remaining investments on hand at year-end are recognized as unrealised gains or losses, and included as part of investment income for the year.

(c) Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost and is being amortized over its estimated useful life on a declining balance method. The annual amortization rate is as follows:

Equipment	20%

2. Significant accounting policies, continued

(d) Investments

Investments are recorded at fair value. Unrealized gains and losses as a result of fair value adjustments at year end are included in investment income for the year.

(e) Donated material and services

Donated capital and investments are recorded in the financial statements at fair value on the date of the donation. Donated materials and services are not recorded because the fair market value is not readily determinable. With the exception of volunteer time, such material and services are not significant.

6. Related party transactions

The Foundation is related to the Canadian Association for Spiritual Care by way of membership. Any transactions are measured at the exchange amount, which is the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the related parties. During the year, the foundation did not enter into any transactions with the related party.

7. Financial instruments

The foundation's financial instruments consist of cash, equity investments, accounts payable and accrued liabilities. It is management's opinion that the foundation is not exposed to significant interest rate, market, currency, credit, liquidity or cash flow risks arising from these financial instruments and that the fair value of these financial instruments approximate their carrying values.
